Blast From The Past! Group Dig Success in Essex!

The photos shown were taken on a group dig by the Essex Bottle Collectors Club way back in 1972! Apparently, over 40 diggers turned up on the day to dig a new site at Wakering, Nr Southend. Between then they recovered 14 black & white potlids. 1 coloured lid, some cure all bottles and lots of pipe bowls.

They had to fill in holes created by 'Pirate' diggers who had been on the site without permission! Ted Fletcher was one of the members digging (he used to live in Brentwood) and apparently found the coloured lid under a blackberry bush - just like he always quoted in his books! Is that a young Wayne Woods watching on....

Dumpy Codd Find

Anyone seen one of these before? ➤

Just 7" tall embossed I.C.E Berg & Son, Bradfield. To the rear it is embossed patent-4-London with the makers name near the base - B. Ryalands, Bottle Works, Nr Barnsley. Aqua Glass - Sea washed. Could it be from Bradfield, near Harwich?

If anyone has any information they wish to share about this bottle or a similar bottle, please contact

Lee Bloomfield via
